AZCO Names Andrew Firkins Vice President of Finance & Administration

APPLETON, Wis. — AZCO, part of the Burns & McDonnell family of companies, has named Andrew Firkins vice president of finance and administration.

In this role, Firkins will lead the company's administrative and financial management functions, including project controls, supporting AZCO's continued growth and operations. AZCO delivers industrial construction and fabrication projects across the U.S. and Canada, both independently and in collaboration with Burns & McDonnell. AZCO's work spans across power, oil and gas, food and beverage, aviation, manufacturing, and other industries.

With more than 15 years of experience in finance and accounting, Firkins has led financial management, business planning and forecasting efforts across the engineering and construction industry. He has extensive experience partnering with operations and project teams to support stakeholder alignment, financial performance and strategic decision-making. Prior to coming to AZCO, Firkins worked at Burns & McDonnell in a variety of finance roles of increasing responsibility. Most recently, he was a controller, leading a team of 11 financial managers throughout the firm.

"Great organizations are built by leaders who help others succeed," said Jonathan Woodsum, AZCO president. "Andrew has consistently demonstrated an ability to support teams, navigate complex business challenges and create lasting value for the organization. We're excited to welcome him to the AZCO leadership team."

A native of Champaign, Ill., Firkins earned both his bachelor's and master's degrees in accounting from the University of Illinois Urbana-Champaign.

Throughout his career, he has valued the opportunity to collaborate with motivated individuals and build lasting professional relationships.

"I'm excited to join AZCO because it presents an opportunity to take on new challenges, continue growing professionally and contribute to meaningful projects, said Firkins. "I'm looking forward to meeting and collaborating with talented new colleagues, building new relationships and learning from different perspectives."
